I am a restless and curious person who is always thinking about new projects. I am looking for the opportunity to enter the IT sector both as a developer and as a sales person and start my new path. I am ready to learn and develop with whoever gives me the opportunity.

With over a decade of experience in Sales and Marketing, including my role as a brand ambassador at L'Oréal Professionnel, I have demonstrated my ability to establish strong connections with clients and effectively promote products and services. My focus on empathy and clear communication has allowed me to understand customer needs and provide personalized solutions that build trust and satisfaction.

In the past five years, I have had the valuable opportunity to work in the family business, where I took on various responsibilities ranging from sales management to financial management control. This experience has provided me with a comprehensive understanding of the business and operational aspects of a company and has strengthened my organizational and problem-solving skills.

Parallely, in the past two years, I have immersed myself in the world of web development, focusing on Front End. I have completed studies in web development and have become a Junior Front End Dev , I am currently finishing the Odin Project and about to start my path in React and Node JS.This new skill has broadened my perspective and my ability to approach challenges from a technological standpoint.

I am fluent in English thanks to my travels and culinary experiences, which have allowed me to effectively communicate with people from diverse cultures and understand different perspectives. My ability to establish genuine and lasting relationships has served me well both in the kitchen and in business environments.

In my free time, I dedicate myself to staying updated on the latest lifestyle trends and following sports events. These interests reflect my commitment to continuous learning and my desire to stay connected with my surroundings.

I am excited about the opportunity to bring my experience and skills to the table. I firmly believe that success comes from empathy, continuous learning ,effective communication, and consistently delivering exceptional service. I am eager to collaborate with a passionate team and work towards shared goals.

Thank you for considering my application, and I look forward to the possibility of discussing how my experience and vision can perfectly fit within the company. I am available for any further inquiries.
